ACTIVITY IN COPPER.

Four More Furnaces Started at Lake Linden.

Houghton, Mich., March 11.—(Special to the Herald.)—The Calumet and Hecla put four additional furnaces in blast at the Lake Linden smelters yesterday, making thirteen now in commission, the largest number for many years. The action is important as spring is usually marked by a small production.

PIG IRON COMBINATION.

Formation of the New Trust Said to Be Complete.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 11.—A local paper says: "Parties interested in the proposed pig iron combination have been quietly at work for some time past arranging details until it is now stated on good authority that the trust is practically assured. The chief promoter of the trust according to a local paper is Mr. A. Hanna, of this city, and the Carnegie company, of Pittsburgh. McKim, Mather & Co., of this city, have also been actively interested in the formation of the trust. It is proposed to include all the furnaces in Allegheny, Shomo, Northern Ohio and Pittsburgh districts. A careful canvass of all furnaces operating in these districts has been made and it is reported that the unanimous sentiment is in favor of a combination. The plan, said a member of the firm of Corigan & McKinney, today, is to establish a central selling company and regulate the output by allotment. By so doing we can prevent an overstock of the market and keep up prices."

COLORADO VOLVES. Fort Collins, Colo., March 11.—Gray wolves are doing serious damage to stock in the neighborhood of Larimer river in this county. They come down from the timber in parks and raid the cattle ranches, killing large numbers of calves and yearlings. The stockmen are obliged to come to their young stock nightly and watch their corrals.

SAGINAW PEOPLE WALK.

All Street Cars in the City Tied Up By Strike.

Saginaw, Mich., March 11.—All the street cars in the city are tied up today, and the people are working in a pouring rain. The ninety conductors and motormen went on strike at 6:30 this morning, by order of a committee of local branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees. All cars on the Union and Consolidated lines were promptly headed for the yards. The men demand regular hours and pay for overtime. They have been working fourteen to sixteen hours daily. The receivers of the road last night declined to accede to their request. The public seem to sympathize with the employees.

MILLIONS IN BONDS.

Corvallis, Ore., March 11.—The mortgage of the bond of first mortgage bonds, of the Corvallis & Eastern Railway company, has been filed for record in Benton county, in favor of the Central Trust company of New York. It covers the 141 miles of road between Tumalo and Corvallis, and the railway lines to be constructed or acquired until such railway shall amount in the aggregate to 500 miles. The aggregate amount to be issued is $1,500,000, shall not exceed $1,250,000 in first mortgage bonds.

CRUISERS NEARLY READY.

St. Petersburg, March 11.—The big cruiser Columbia was taken out of dry dock this afternoon. She will begin taking on ammunition at once. The ship will be taken on at Port Moller. The Columbia and the Minneapolis will sail South in ten days. Their destination is not known.

ORDNANCE BUREAU IS GETTING READY

Arrangements For Procuring a Large Number of Rapid-Fire Guns For Sea Coast Defenses.

CUBA TO BE RECOGNIZED

Probable That President McKinley Will Send an Important Message to Congress on Monday Next.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary Alger has authorized Gen. Flagler, chief of ordnance, to make arrangements at once for procuring a large number of rapid-fire guns for sea coast defenses. This action is taken without waiting for the allotment among the various bureaus of the war and navy departments of the $50,000,000 voted for the national defense. The secretary felt that there was no reason for further delaying the necessary steps for the procurement of these guns, as it was felt there would be trouble in arriving at an equitable adjustment of the money available. Ever since the battleship Maine was wrecked in Havana harbor the ordnance department has been hastening the delivery of guns already finished. The ordnance bureau will make all these rapid-fire guns that can be procured within a reasonable time, and they will be shipped to the sea coast fortifications as rapidly as possible. They constitute what is known as the auxiliary defense for the fortifications, and are invaluable for keeping the enemies' ships from the vicinity of the shore. They are also of great use in making these guns. They include the army gun factory, the Bethlehem steel company, the American Ordnance company. The guns are mounted without much trouble, so that the manufacturing is the essential in the present crisis.

It was admitted by the ordnance officials that directions have been given to the various arsenals and armories controlled by the ordnance department, to work for the fullest possible extent, with a view to hastening the completion of existing orders. In this wise, all firms having contracts to supply the government with ordnance have been requested to work their men night and day in order to finish the work in hand, and to arrange their business with a view to increased orders. Ammunition orders have been already placed with the Union Metallic Cartridge company of Bridgeport, Conn., and the Winchester Arms company, of New York. The negotiations for the supply of large numbers of small arms, equipment and accessories are now in progress. The bureau has not yet indicated the exact number which will be ordered, but that the order will be large is certain. The fact that the manufacturers have been given the cue to make all they can.

Gen. Greely, chief signal officer, has been given authority by the secretary of war to proceed without regard to military restrictions in establishing rapid telegraph connections between the sea coast fortifications. It requires three-quarters of an hour to pass a message from one battery to another. Haldimann is worse off, while strange as it may seem, the only method of communication between the national capital and its most offensive work, Fort Washington, on the Potomac, is by means of a messenger.

Lieut. Stone, the representative of the Carnegie Steel company, was at the navy department today in conference with the officials respecting the naval work in progress. The officers of the navigation bureau were very busy translating cipher messages today. It was said that the chief of the bureau had received a message from the navy department, and that he had received no report this far from the court of inquiry, or had he ordered the fleet in China to the Philippines, as was rumored here today.

The secretary sent a general order to the chief of the bureau, and Capt. Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, is in the hands of the navy department, concerning the supply of coal to the vessels now cruising to the south of Cuba.

A telegram received by Capt. Loomis from Charleston announced the sailing from that port yesterday of the big electric ship in tow of the tug Underwriter. She is heading for Havana.

The two gunboats, Wilmington and Annapolis, reported to the navy department over night from the Caribbean sea. The former sailed from Barbados and the latter from La Guayra. The torpedo boats at Key West will soon be reinforced by two fine boats which have been under construction. The Wilmington called this morning from Charleston for Key West and the Porto from Norfolk for the same port.

The commandant of the Mare island navy yard reported that the cruiser Mohican had sailed today with her cargo of ammunition, which she will tranship at Honolulu to the Baltimore for the Asiatic squadron.

The naval officers who are endeavoring to effect the purchase of ships abroad have encountered all kinds of difficulties. This is the difference between the delivery of guns already finished. The ordnance bureau will make all these rapid-fire guns that can be procured within a reasonable time, and they will be shipped to the sea coast fortifications as rapidly as possible. They constitute what is known as the auxiliary defense for the fortifications, and are invaluable for keeping the enemies' ships from the vicinity of the shore. They are also of great use in making these guns. They include the army gun factory, the Bethlehem steel company, the American Ordnance company. The guns are mounted without much trouble, so that the manufacturing is the essential in the present crisis.

Maine was blown up by an external explosion. The divers this week have been able to add little to what they previously learned. In effect the proof, from the condition of the hull and keel, as well as the magazines, makes what might be called a complete structural evidence of an external cause.

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS. United States to Build a Fleet of Ten at Once.

New York, March 11.—Speaking of the possibility of the United States obtaining naval vessels abroad, John Platt, of Thorpe, Platt & Co., of this city, the American representative of J. I. Thornycroft & Co., of Chiswick, Eng., one of the largest constructors of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers in Great Britain, said: "I have just returned from Washington and I was assured that this government desires now more than any other class of vessels a fleet of torpedo boat destroyers, and arrangements will undoubtedly be made to build a fleet of ten vessels of the Thornycroft type in this country. By working day and night the shipbuilding contractors can have them ready in seven months. The Thornycroft vessels are considered the most successful torpedo boats ever constructed."

SPAIN'S TORPEDO FLEET. Two New Destroyers Leave England Direct For Cuba.

Madrid, March 11.—The torpedo squadron, unless the plans are altered, will start Friday of this week for the Canaries, while the two torpedo boat destroyers leave England direct for Cuba.

THE OREGON'S AMMUNITION. Four Hundred Tons of Explosives to Be Loaded on Board.

San Francisco, March 11.—The battleship Oregon is to receive at once 400 tons of ammunition. Today the powder, shot and shells will be brought to the ship, located at the Presidio. It is estimated that the vessel cannot go to the naval station at Mare island to receive supplies, owing to the shallow water in the channel there. Estimates are on file in the navy department showing that the sum of $250,000 would enlarge the dock at Mare island to so as to accommodate a big battleship and deepen the channel. It is believed that the Oregon will remain for considerable time in the vicinity of San Francisco.

AN ILLINOIS REGIMENT. Ready to Fight Spain at an Hour's Notice.

Chicago, March 11.—Chicago has a regimental claimant for the honor of being called the First Illinois volunteers in the event of war with Spain. The full roster is in the hands of Governor Taft, with assurance that the regiment is ready at one hour's notice. Col. Thomas L. Hartigan, Maj. John Ryan, Capt. Harry Beach, and every other officer of the regiment has either been in the service of the regular army at West Point, or in the military of Illinois and other states.

WE MAY BUY THEM. United States May Get the New Brazilian Cruisers.

Washington, March 11.—Negotiations are proceeding for the purchase of the Brazilian cruisers Amazonas and the Barbos, by the United States, but, so far as the navy department is advised, have not yet been closed.

JAPAN WANTS THEM. She Has Trouble of Her Own and Needs Vessels.

Washington, March 11.—The negotiations for the purchase of two Japanese cruisers now building at Philadelphia, and San Francisco are off, and the present indications are that no further steps will be taken towards acquiring these ships. The Japanese government appears to be even more desirous of securing these ships than the United States, and owing to the delicate character of the aspect of affairs between Russia and Japan, it is felt that the deeds of Japan are quite as urgent as those of this country.

MAINE VICTIMS RELIEF. Boutelle's Temporary Absence Causes a Day's Delay.

Washington, March 11.—The bill for the relief of the victims of the Maine disaster was to have been called up in the house today. Speaker Reed agreed before the house met to recognize Mr. Boutelle, chairman of the naval affairs committee, for that purpose. The latter left the hall for a few minutes to summon his committee, who were in session, but before he could return the regular order had been demanded and the house had gone into committee of the whole to consider the Bowman claims bill.

It is expected that Mr. Boutelle will be given an opportunity to call up the bill tomorrow.

GEN. MERRITT'S TRIP. New York, March 11.—"I shall start on my trip to inspect the fortifications upon the sea coast of the Southern states on Monday next," said Gen. Wesley Merritt today. The itinerary of his trip, which will take about a fortnight, provides for going straight to St. Augustine. From there he will proceed to Key West, and will visit in return all the defense stations on the coast.

MORE TROOPS FOR CUBA. Madrid, March 11.—Further reinforcements of troops have called from Santander for Cuba. There is no truth in the report that the king is ill.

OIL FOR WARSHIPS. Key West, Fla., March 11.—The United States cruiser Nashville called this morning for Tortugas islands with 180 cases of oil for the fleet.

MANUFACTURING GUNS.

Watertown Arsenal Starts in on a New Branch.

Watertown, Mass., March 11.—The United States arsenal here, which in ordinary years has been exclusively a factory for gun carriages and their equipments, and for gun implements and sea coast projectiles, has gone into gun manufacturing. The new branch, which is being set up in a new building, will be in charge of the manufacture of small arms and their accessories. ROSECRANS
IS DEAD

Famous Old Fighter Passes
Peacefully Away at His California Home.

WAS ILL TWO WEEKS

Brilliant War Record--Diplomatic and Congressional Services to Country.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 11.—Gen. W. S. Rosecrans died this morning at 10 o'clock at his home near Redondo. The old warrior's death was peaceful in the extreme. For several days he had been between life and death, at times unconscious and again in a comatose state. His splendid vitality had kept him alive for days. When it was known that the end was near all the watchers at the bedside were ready at any time to see the last. At the bedside when the end came was a son and daughter of the general, Carl and their spouses, and a number of intimate friends of the family, besides the attending physician, Dr. Haynes.

Gen. Rosecrans was stricken with no particular disease, and the end came through a gradual weakening of the system. When he was first stricken, more than two weeks ago, it was not supposed that the ailment was more than an attack of the grip, but though he rallied several times, the physician never held out much hope of recovery, and for the last three days the family and friends have known that the end was very near.

The place where he died is called Rosecrans, in honor of him, and is near a station on the Redondo railroad about twelve miles from the city. The general had made his home there on a large ranch.

Gen. Rosecrans was born at Kingston, Ohio, Sept. 6, 1819. He graduated at the United States military academy in 1842 and entered the army as a second lieutenant, and after some years of service he was promoted to the rank of colonel in 1861.

At the beginning of the rebellion he volunteered for service and was assigned to the command of the Twenty-third Ohio volunteers. Soon afterwards he took part in the battle of Gettysburg, and was promoted to the rank of major general.

After the battle of Gettysburg he was assigned to the command of the Department of the Cumberland, and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant general. He was then assigned to the command of the Department of the Missouri, where he remained until 1865.

After several years' hard work and finally with his army occupied with the task of rebuilding the South, he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant general, and was then assigned to the command of the Department of the Missouri, where he remained until 1865.

Home Consumption League
Organized For Aiding the Home Industries.

A PLEDGE ADOPTED

One Which Members Will Sign—Motto Is "It's Made Here."

A movement has been started with promises to be more effective in encouraging home industries than all the agitation which has gone before it. At a meeting of the chamber of commerce a few weeks ago, Bishop McGillick, L. M. Williams and J. R. McLean were appointed a committee to see what plan could be devised to aid home manufacturing institutions. This committee held several meetings, and as it proceeded with its work called in several other men, and finally had a committee of fifteen or twenty. As a result of this committee's investigations, it was decided to organize the Home Consumption League.

The league will have for its motto, "It's Made Here," and the following pledge will be signed by its members: "I hereby pledge myself to give the preference in my purchases to such articles and commodities as are manufactured, prepared or grown in Duluth, quality and price being equal."

started fashion, and observing no one else was near, the one in distress exclaimed: "Did you ever?"

"No, I never," replied the secretary as he stepped forward. "I use buttons."

This was too much for the young women, and they precipitately fled.

When Joe H. Heatwole, of the Third Minnesota district, was elected to the Fifty-fourth congress it was freely predicted that the only republic he would make was a member of that body would be upon the ground of his good looks. Nobody disputed from the start that Joe Heatwole was a handsome man, but his own row and within a few years may be explaining intricate political games to his wily parent.

Even during his first term Mr. Heatwole attracted much notice in the committee, and at the beginning of the present session was named as chairman of the committee on foreign affairs, a position of importance which had exclusive charge of Cuban affairs. He has been frequently consulted by the president and the acting secretary of state regarding foreign matters and his practical experience on foreign affairs has been far more valuable than the opinion of a skilled international lawyer.

Mr. Heatwole's foreign affairs have given much consideration, both at the executive mansion and at the state department, to the fact that this was the second time he has been in constant consultation with executive officials and his advice has been much sought as it was with the great bulk of the American people than any other member of the committee.

Mr. Heatwole may not return to congress when his present term expires, but it must be acknowledged that he has made a better record during his service here than any other member of the Minnesota delegation in the house.

EVIDENCE OF HIGH LIVING.
New Orleans Times-Democrat: A member of the police force came across a box the other day who was wheeling home a load of oyster cans and bottles, and curious to know what use the lad could put them to, he made a direct inquiry.

"Going to throw them over into our back yard," replied the boy. "I took two loads home yesterday."

"But what do you use them for?" "It's a trick of the family," grinned the lad.

"How trick?" "It's just as I tell you," continued the boy, as he split on his hands to resume the box to the barrow. "We are going to have some oysters and bottles of champagne, figs, and nuts till we've got tired of 'em, and are living on bread and taters for a healthy change."

The officer scratched his ear like a man who had received a new idea.

THEY ALL DO IT.
Diggs—Old Minn. has continually reminding people of the fact that he is a self-made man; inflicted with a sort of religion, he gruffly said in a low tone: "Saw it on or use a natpin."

He heard a slight scream, saw two young women look about the hall in a

GRONSETH & OLSEN.

CLAIM THEY WERE FLEECE.

Number of Woodmen Complain to the Authorities.

A woodman, who said he represented forty-nine others, complained to Assistant City Attorney Spencer yesterday afternoon that they had been fleeced by a firm of employment agents. He said that they saw a sign up in front of the firm's office that fifty men were wanted at Mountain Iron, and that the fare would be paid. They went in and paid a fee of $1 each and were sent up to Mountain Iron, he says, and were put to work by Williamson & Campbell on the Vail & Davis road extension to Hibbing. At the end of a week, however, they were discharged and the sum of $2.00 was deducted from their time checks for their fare to Hibbing. In addition, they had to get their checks cashed at a saloon, where a discount of 15 per cent, Mr. Spencer presumes—the man said 15 cents—was deducted. Investigation showed that it was D. M. White & Co. who sent the men up. Mr. White says that he was informed by Williamson & Campbell that they had work for 150 men all summer. He says he only agreed to advance the fare to Mountain Iron, which he did.

Was Looking For Trouble.

Millie Cole, a colored lady living on Sixth avenue west, near First street, complained at the city attorney's office this morning that Robert Cunby had carried on scandalously at her house last night. She said he had chased her around the house and out onto the street with a surgeon's knife, threatening to cut her heart out. Failing to catch her, he went back and cut her sack into ribbons. She said Robert was not drunk; he was just "quarrelsome." A warrant was issued for Robert's arrest on the charge of assault.

A Refunding Ordinance.

City Attorney Richards is at work on ordinances that will be introduced at the council meeting Monday night, providing for the refunding of $5,000 of West Duluth 7 per cent bonds and $25,000 of Duluth 6 per cent bonds at 4 1/2 per cent, and for the sale of bonds for the purchase of the gas and water plants, the rate of the last mentioned bonds being fixed in the ordinance at 4 per cent.

C. E. SHANNON WRITES.

Tells of the Condition of Things at Skagway Now.

A letter from ex-Alderman Shannon, dated at Skagway, Feb. 20, has been received here, in which it is stated that he and his party are all well. It says that Messrs. Kilgore and King spent the previous night at their camp and that they have a contract for hauling freight to the summit. Alderman Shannon and his brother, Andrew Shannon, of Montana, who has joined him recently, were to go over the pass in a few days, and will wait at the lake with their goods until the ice breaks, which will be about May 1. The thermometer was ranging about zero, he said. The trail was getting so crowded as it was last fall and the Dyea trail was already hopelessly crowded. Those who have spent the winter on the ground are afforded much amusement by the tenderfoot that are arriving intending to "go right through." Mr. Shannon advises that people starting now take no provisions, as plenty can be bought at fair prices from "homestead chaps." A two years' supply of clothing should be provided, of the same weight and quality for summer and winter respectively as is worn in Duluth. He says that passage should be taken on the regular line steamer, as the tramp vessels are almost all of their condemned hulks.

Take advice! Stop coughing at once by the immediate use of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. One bottle will cure you.

America is the star of the nations. It is the leading star among the rulers and the guiding star for the oppressed. It is the GREAT "NORTH STAR." Its glare, its brilliancy and its power makes the "SUNNY SOUTH" tremble. As the stars of the world are on the "Stars and Stripes," so are the people of Duluth looking to us for SUBSTANTIAL EVIDENCE of our CASH VALUES. We give our customers the DIRECT BENEFIT of the CASH SYSTEM. What is the use of paying expenses to two parties and profits to TWO PARTIES, when you can buy your GOODS from us with big profit to you and SMALL MARGIN to us, at a reduced expense? Our aim is as high as the stars, but our prices as low as the ocean. Straight, legitimate business will last, while discriminating, monopolizing schemes are dying out when the people get their eyes open. The jobbers know the CASH VALUE of GOOD GOODS, and sometimes they were induced to buy from us.

VOLUNTEERS ENLISTING ON BOARD THE RECEIVING SHIP VERMONT.

THE MAKING OF A MAN-O'-WARSMAN

Just What Jack's Daily Life Is Aboard the Receiving Ship and While at Sea.

BUSY DAYS AT THE NAVY RECRUITING STATIONS.

Copyright, 1898, by Bachelor Syndicate.
More than one-half the men in the United States navy today are native Americans. This is a larger percentage than has ever been in the service. In recent enlistments only native Americans have been accepted. They have always had the preference, and the supply of them offering in the last three years has been larger than ever before. At the same time, many graduates of the apprentice schools of the navy have been enlisting, and four-fifths of the apprentices are native Americans. The benefits of the apprentice system are beginning to make themselves felt in the navy.
The life of a sailor is hard even under the best conditions, but it is an interesting life, and every day good-looking, intelligent and well-dressed young men offer themselves as candidates for the blue uniform. With the growth of the Maine the number of applicants was increased very largely.
Most of these applicants have been found unfit for service. Twenty-three thousand men and 2600 boys were rejected for physical disability and other causes last year—more than four-fifths of the applications. The physical defects which are a bar to service in the navy in time of peace include impaired vision, impaired hearing, defective teeth, communicable diseases and a long catalogue of weaknesses or chronic ailments. For "Jackie" is required by the regulations to be of robust frame, intelligent, and of perfectly sound and healthy constitution. It was 250 of this class of citizens, native and adopted, that went to death in Havana harbor.
At convenient points along the coast, where there are naval stations, are placed receiving ships—old hulks, once serviceable in the wooden navy, but worthless in these days of big guns.

There are eleven of these ships, at New York, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia, San Francisco, etc. The busiest of them is the Vermont, which is stationed at New York under command of Capt. Merrill Miller. A majority of the naval recruits comes from New York city.
It is an impressive scene when seven or eight young men gather in Capt. Miller's office, hat in hand, to take the oath which completes their enlistment. It is the last step which virtually cuts them off from freedom for three long years. However little they may like the service, once they have taken the oath they stay aboard ship for thirty-six months for their enlistment and risk imprisonment at Boston. How welcome the privation of his independence may be to the sailor is shown by the fact that 119 men gave up their citizenship, actual or prospective, last year rather than serve out their enlistment.
"You do solemnly swear—" says Capt. Miller, holding the Bible in both hands as he stands before the little group of recruits; and with right hand uplifted they take oath to the statements made in their applications. Before this all of them have been stripped and examined by the surgeon to see if they are qualified physically. After the brief session with Capt. Miller, they go to the lower deck of the old ship and draw their uniforms. Before night they have put aside their citizen's clothes and are wearing the blue flannel uniform.
The ratings of the men who enlist are various. Apprentices, of course, are not actively in the service, though a large proportion of the 1600 now at Newport, Rhode Island, etc., can be used to man the ships even now. The grades above apprenticeship for which men enlist are chiefly landsmen, ordinary seaman, seaman and coal passer. The pay of these is $16, $18, $24 and $22 respectively. Firemen, sailmakers, shipwrights, etc., receive more.

The landsman is a man who has no knowledge of sea life. He must be native born and between 18 and 25 years of age. The ordinary seaman must have been at sea at least two years and must pass an examination. The seaman must have had four years' experience and his examination is more rigorous. The fireman, once they have taken a seaman's rating. The landsman, after three years, if he re-enlists, becomes an ordinary seaman and may be promoted a year later to the higher grade. A re-enlistment at any rating brings increase of pay.
Above the grade of seaman is that of petty officer, to which the seaman may be promoted. He has no hope, as the soldier has, of earning a commission in time of peace; though in war anything is possible.
The man who enlists is usually without a dollar in the world. Within a few minutes after he has left the captain's office he is in debt to the navy department $40.00, the price of his outfit. This outfit is delivered to him by the paymaster's clerk or yeoman, after the recruit has been measured by the Enrollment system, and he proceeds immediately to put on his new togs. His blue uniform, he finds, lacks one feature. There is no ribbon around the cap showing in gilt letters the name of the ship to which he belongs. That will not come until he is assigned. Meantime he need not worry about the figure he will cut with his friends, for he will not have shore leave until he has worked out the price of his outfit. That may be in four months and it may not be in five or six. Forty dollars is a big debt when your pay is only $16 a month.
Prepping the landsman in to sea duty on a receiving ship is not a disagreeable business on either side. The men, as a rule, are enthusiastic about the service, and though the old-timers may give them a little, no hazing is permitted. The fare they get is quite good—better, in fact, than they can expect to get when they are away from land.
The raw recruit has to earn his food and his $16 pay by cleaning the decks, polishing the brasses and doing other plain work about the ship, and by practicing the infantry drill and the setting-up drill every day. But for the most part, the period just after enlistment is a period of idleness. The landsman learns to sling his hammock and sing his "ditty bag" over his shoulder. He starts away, with a squad of time-jackets, to take the train for Norfolk or whatever the point may be at which his ship is waiting. There he goes aboard, reports and is entered on the list of the ship's crew.

A fixed number of men is assigned to each ship—so many landsmen, so many ordinary seamen, so many firemen and so on through all ratings. There is always a small shortage, due to deaths and desertions. Each landsman, when he reports for duty, is assigned to one of the four or five divisions aboard the ship. He is taken below, shown where to find his hammock and where to sling it, and the locker in which to stow his clothing. He gets a ribbon with the name of the ship, which he puts on his cap and he is ready for his duties.
These are simple at first. He assists in coaling the ship. He is assigned to a place in a gun crew and he learns all the duties at the gun, but particularly those which are to fall to him. He is told to keep a certain part of the big gun clean, and he proceeds immediately to brighten it. He learns all the drills, including those with side arms, pistols and broadswords. All this drilling and breaking-in is done by the petty officers, with the assistance of some of the older men who are quick at learning a new man into shape. It is not done very gently and the new man is made to feel the rigor of a severe discipline. Then he is assigned to a boat, in which he is to pull a specified oar, and he practices rowing until he can feather and pull a strong stroke without catching.
After a month or six weeks of studying the school of the sailor, the new man is fit for general duties aboard ship. But there is much about feeding, steering, knotting, splicing and the other details of sailor's work which he has to pick up in odd hours, and he is fortunate if he understands enough of it to take an ordinary seaman's rating at the end of his three years' service.
The sailor's life is a busy one. Here is his day's routine: He turns out at 5:30 o'clock in the morning and lathers and shaves his face in seven minutes. Then he eats a continental breakfast—a cup of coffee and a roll. After this he scrubs his clothing or he cleans ship—sometimes the former, but always the latter. The ship's deck must be kept as clean as sand and water will make it; and every day the paint must be scrubbed. Every day, too, a detail of "sile-cleaners" goes over the point of the outside of the ship and makes it clean.
At 8 o'clock the regular breakfast call is sounded. An hour is given to each meal, and in what part of that hour he is not eating Jack can do as he likes.
After breakfast, which is always a substantial meal, Jack, who has been working in his suit of white, puts on his blue uniform and appears in it at sick call. This call is for those who have slight ailments, who are examined by the surgeon and prescribed for and sent to the hospital.
After sick call the sailor has to polish the bright work of the big gun and the small arms until 9:30, when the whole crew is called to order for inspection by the captain. At this inspection any sailor who has a grievance may voice it to the captain and be sure of a hearing and of fair treatment.

After the inspection there is drill for a half hour or more. It may run up to an hour and a half, and if the captain's breakfast disagrees with him it is quite as likely to be the longer period. Bravery in the navy may finish its vent in drilling the men until they are nearly dead from exhaustion; and a captain who overworks his men can usually be told by the number of desertions from his ship.
After gun drill, or drill with the small arms, the dinner call is sounded at 12 o'clock. An hour later the men may be ordered to their boats. Some of them may be put at repair work, which is always going on aboard ship, or at other duties. There is always plenty to keep them busy till 5 o'clock, when the supper call is sounded. At 6 the men are called to evening quarters, when everything is examined to see that it is secure for the night. Then the sailors sling their hammocks and for the intervening time until 9 o'clock they may amuse themselves as they like. Some of them spend the time playing cards, some in athletic games, some with concertina or violin, some in smoking and "yarning." The sailor is a great talker and he seems to have as much to say at the end of his three years' term as he had at the beginning. In this particular he is different from the officers in the ward room, who get heartily tired of each other before a cruise is ended.
Jack is not only a great talker, but a great eater, and in many cases a good share of his $16 a month goes for food to supplement his regular rations. The ration is reckoned at 30 cents a day and it consists of good, substantial food in what a landsman ashore would consider liberal quantity. Under the regulations, fresh meat and fruit cannot be served oftener than four times a week unless ordered by the surgeon; but this is a privation, for the old tar, accustomed to a diet of hard tack and salt junk, often complains if he is forced to eat soft bread and fresh meat.
On all ships some of the rations are commuted—that is, drawn in money. At one time it was in the discretion of the captain to commute any of the sailor's rations with this money. The commutation is one-fourth of the whole number, and requires that the man should have with him a certain amount of money to be served to him. When the ship is in port the sailor fares almost as well as the recruits on the receiving ship. He can use any of his pay for delicacies that he fancies and he is permitted to buy bottled beer and drink it in moderation. No grog has been served aboard the ships of our navy in many years.

SUNKEN ISLAND

The Prince of Monaco Discovers One Not Far From the Azores.

NEAR SARGASSO SEA

New Field Opened for Portuguese Fishermen from the Windward Isles.

Copyright, 1898, by Bachelor Syndicate.
The discovery of a drowned island in the midst of the Atlantic ocean is an event sufficiently sensational to cause not a little excitement among "chasseurs de poissons"—as those scientists who make it their business to study the bottom of the sea call themselves. Future charts issued by the hydrographic office at Washington will show this geological freak, with soundings in fathoms upon and around it. It is a huge volcanic mountain, which uplifts itself from the floor of the ocean nearly to the surface, the depths all about it averaging about 1000 fathoms. This drowned island is located just a little bit over 1000 miles due west from the rock of Gibraltar. It is forty-five miles southwest of Pico in the Azores. The shape of it, as determined by soundings, is much like that of a huge cocked hat, with the tip of the hat pointing to the south. Happily, there is no danger that any vessels will run upon it, inasmuch as its highest peak is forty-one fathoms beneath the surface of the sea. If it were only a little higher, it would be a real island, and people would be living on it.
Nevertheless, this drowned island, which has already received the name of Princess Alice Shoal, possesses a very practical importance and usefulness, as will be explained presently. It was discovered by no less a personage than his serene highness the prince of Monaco, who has a fond for investigating the depths of the sea. In fact, he is one of the most eminent of living "chasseurs de poissons," and a considerable fraction of the income derived by him from a royalty in the celebrated gambling establishment located in his dominions is spent in the pursuit of this hobby. His experiments in the floating of bottles for the purpose of studying ocean currents have contributed some very important facts to scientific knowledge.

The prince came upon the drowned island quite unexpectedly while making soundings from his yacht, the Princess Alice, after which he named his discovery. It was a shoal in the midst of the ocean's depths, and the land line registered all the way from 100 fathoms to forty-one fathoms in various parts of the "cocked hat" outlined by its record. The peak of the submarine mountain was found to be quite sharp, and his serene highness marked it with a couple of buoys. These buoys have already become a goal for fishermen in pursuit of their industry.
A shoal in the deep sea, be it understood, is always rich in the forms of life which afford food to fishes. Hence it is that the Grand Banks are such profitable fishing grounds for cod and halibut. It is not surprising, therefore, to learn that the newly-discovered drowned island has already become a Mecca for the toilers of the sea, who sail over it from the Azores. They are making a rich harvest there, and for all time to come it promises to yield a great annual crop of marine wealth.
Princess Alice Shoal is situated on the northeastern edge of the Sargasso sea—that wonderful collection of aquatic plants in the midst of the Atlantic which grow and reproduce their kind while floating on the surface of the water, upheld by their own air-filled bulbs. In calm weather the vast area covered by this strange vegetation looks like a drowned meadow, but during storms the plants are scattered here and there. The Sargasso sea is located in an eddy of the great circulating stream of the Atlantic, so that the waters there are nearly stationary, having no strong currents. Hence the accumulation of plant life, as in a still pond.
The aquatic vegetation of the Sargasso sea teems with multitudinous forms of life, but not least interesting of the myriad creatures which inhabit it are certain curious nest-building fishes. They have arm-like fore fins with which they cling to the weed, making their nests by binding together glistening masses of it as big as Dutch cheeses. This they accomplish by means of long gelatinous strings, which they form for the purpose of finally depositing their eggs in the center of the sphere thus composed. There are transparent cuttlefish, transparent shrimp and transparent worms in the weed. One can see through them as if they were made of glass.
Shrimps and crabs also abound, and they, as well as the fishes, are spotted with white, like the weed itself. This, of course, is one of nature's protective disguises.

The Chandler Iron company are pushing work these days and the season promises to be a good one for this vicinity as far as shipping is concerned. A force of men have been employed since that time in blasting the Cash-a-falls, so as to facilitate the driving of logs. This once beautiful place will soon be a thing of the past.

The past week has thawed the snow so that the woodmen have been busy by hand and in many of the camps night shifts have been run. A few more weeks and all the camps will be ready to break up.

Rice destroyed the 1-story frame home held for mayor this coming election. Wednesday evening between 9 and 10 o'clock. The fire started near the chimney and gained quite a headway before it was noticed. The fire department turned out, but could render no assistance because of the distance of the building from any water connection. Very little was saved excepting some clothing.

[illegible]

The plain-gored skirt, very scant around the hips, made in with the lining at the bottom, which has a narrow inner facing of hair cloth; the circular Paquin skirt with the circular flounce is also shown as one of the desirable models; and some of the skirts made with a separate lining attached only at the belt. This is not usually advised, however, for this kind of dress, as the other mode of lining is much preferred. The circular flounce in the latest tailor-made skirts does not extend around the entire skirt, but terminates on other side of the back breadth, which is straight and falls in

One of the new Eton models, which is made of black cloth, has a white collar, a white waistband, and a round collar at the back.

The new-fangled silks and supple satins are the latest fashions in the necessary trimming, with possibly a little lace and ribbon for the finish on the collar.

The bolero, in all sizes and shapes, is to be worn again, and it is somewhat of a surprise to find it being worn in the back and full in front.

Lace which has become a thing of the past, when not required by fashion.

The shawl-shaped cape, made of black or white cloth, and worn over the spring bouffant in wags, and the edges are finished with ruffles of any useful material, is still in vogue. It is a useful fashion for those who have lace shawls stowed away in their trunks. The cape is worn with a belt of the same effect in one of these novel garnishes.

Lace shawls are also worn, and are especially useful for skirts. The cape is cut enough to admit the waist and the points fall in front, at the back.

Trunks as yet have lost none of their prestige in the shawl, and overcoats are quite as heavily laced as ever.

convenient. Paris has sent over street dresses in three shades of blue for skirt, undershirt and cloth wrapping for the silver and blue satins are offered in shades of gray. Also there are cloth dresses with gray undershirt and pink or blue or green or even red overskirt. Silver and blue satins are offered together, and gray and yellow, as well as silk skirts, with cloth polka dots and stripes. You take one material and apply it another to it. It is a new and intrusive idea. It is a little odd velvet. Every allowance is to be made that has been suggested to the fashion designers, and they accept with avidity.

Probably the most striking new departure in spring fashions is the use of plain, striped fabrics with a pattern seen in the middle of the skirt front, thus causing the stripes to appear to move. This is a new idea. When this innovation was pointed out to the average two flutes. With rows of stitching on the lower and at the point where the flutes join the upper part, the frock is very good, especially for mixed school girls. It is a simple, sensible frock rather than the rule among tailor-made gowns, however, as most of the skirts are made of a single piece of material.

Fine braiding, rows of stitching and cloth bands are the favored modes of decoration. The skirts are made of five pieces, with wide side skirts and a narrow front, seams and darts being placed so as to give the skirt a clinging effect is not disregarded in tailor-made clothes, a full skirt is usually made of a single piece of material. The frock is like, long and narrow, and really the distinguishing feature is the collar, which is usually very high and deep, in spite of our reluctance to accept it. In the evening frocks, the collar should be up to date by the time she orders her spring gown.

Very Eastern. While the rest of the striped line have prettily tucked and edged with brown. Plaid waistbands are common in the ships, but together too common to be recommended. The designs are as follows:

Bayadere stripes have the 14 ad ornaments of all novelty materials. This season's new group of ornaments of which are grenadines and crepe de chine. Puckered gauze stripes with a wide band of the new stuff and again the stripes resemble tulle. Arabesque designs, and the new group of stripes are very much liked. One of the latest novelties is a pattern of the new stuff, which resembles bengaline. For example, one of these in dull pink and black. The new group of stripes are more closely together and the stripes are more numerous. The striped pattern is used for the front of the bodice and the rest of the dress is plain. The collars are made of cream

A PEOPLE WHO DEMAND DESPOTIC RULE.

After, the post-experiment was tried again and again, with increased enthusiasm, but with invariably the same result. Even Athens, the case usually cited, only succeeded in convincing nearly all of its citizens for a period of about 200 years. But democracy was not a feasible form of government; that it was false in theory and self-destructive in practice, was proved, in America, indeed, to prove the contrary.

It has been customary to attribute the failure of these institutions in Greece—to the failure of the people to grasp the advantages and the benefits of democracy. This is a very superficial and unwarranted beginning—to rampant demagogues and to the misadventures of the people; but this is fallacious. Where the soil is fit, weeds are sure to spring up; the soil of Greece was also pointed out by eager apostles of democracy.

FREE HOMES AMENDMENT.

Eddy Still Has Hopes of Its Success.

Washington, March 14.—(Sp. ed.) The Herald—Representative Eddy is confident that the free homes amendment can be adopted if it is possible to bring it to a vote in the house.

This all depends on the decision of the conference, but Mr. Eddy believes they will report against agreeing to a decision of the house in striking the amendment from the bill.

A JOHANNESBURG TRAGEDY.

Barney Barnato's Nephew Killed by a Soldier.

Capetown, March 14.—Wolf Joel, trustee of the estate of the late Barney Barnato and his nephew, was shot in his office this morning at Johannesburg by a former soldier.

JOEL'S MURDERER CAUGHT.

Johannesburg, March 14.—The murderer of Wolf Joel, a former soldier named Fitchkin, has been arrested.

OSHKOSH MAN LOST.

Goes Out for a Walk in Chicago and Fails to Return.

Chicago, March 14.—Amos Forsythe, of Oshkosh, Wis., who with his wife registered at the Sherman house last Wednesday, has disappeared. His Forsythe left the hotel a few hours after he had registered, telling his wife he was going out for a walk.

Since then he has not been seen, and though the police are working on the case, no trace of the missing man has yet been found. He had about $500 and some valuable jewelry on his person at the time of his disappearance, and foul play is feared. Mrs. Forsythe is seriously ill.

SUPPER BELOW ASHORE.

San Francisco, March 14.—The ship New York from Hong Kong for this port, was blown ashore in Half Moon bay, thirty miles south of here, last night, and is now high and dry on the beach. Although intact, the chances of getting her off are very slight, unless the tide should rise and she will break up. Capt. Peabody and crew escaped unhurt.

OLD LAKE SUPERIOR CAPTAIN DEAD.

Milwaukee, March 14.—A Journal special from Green Bay says that Capt. John Densmore, the pioneer shipbuilder of that city, died today aged 85 years. Capt. Densmore was born in Holland. He built many of the vessels which plied on the Great Lakes. He retired from business three years ago, since which time his sons have conducted affairs.

KILLED A NEGRO.

New Orleans, March 14.—(Sp. ed.) A young white man of Hillsboro, a colored man of color, was killed at the local track, shot and killed Jim Sargent, a negro, this morning. Sargent, who was a giant in strength, had frequently abused Sargent and the shooting was in self-defense.

UNCLE SAM BUYS TWO WAR VESSELS

The Brazilian Cruisers, Amazonas and Admiral Abrouall, Have Been Sold to the United States Government.

SPAIN CANNOT GET BOATS

Neither Chili Nor the Argentine Republic Willing to Sell Any Warships to the Spaniards.

Washington, March 14.—The reported sale to the United States of the two Brazilian cruisers now receiving their finishing touches in an English shipyard was confirmed here this afternoon. It is learned also that Spain has not secured the O'Higgins and that Chili will not sell her to Spain. It is furthermore said that Spain cannot purchase ships from either Chili or the Argentine republic.

London, March 14.—The Brazilian minister confirms the report that the warships Amazonas and Admiral Abrouall have been sold to the United States government. The contract is to be signed today and the Brazilian officers and crew now on board the Amazonas will return to Brazil by the next mail steamer sailing for that country.

Washington, March 14.—Ortega has been sent to Commodore Howell, commanding the European squadron, to send a force of men from the San Francisco to take possession of and hold the United States flag on the Brazilian ship that is ready to go into commission at Newcastle. This will prevent any difficulty in our handling it should be used, as the ship would be under the flag, but lying in a friendly harbor.

New York, March 14.—The Brazilian minister's confirmation of the purchase of the two Brazilian warships was handed to Rear Admiral Bance at his quarters in the Mexican navy yard today. Admiral Bance and his senior aide, Capt. Gilmore, read the dispatch with evident satisfaction, and then expressed themselves, just what arrangements will be made for the manning of the newly purchased vessels could not be definitely ascertained, but the general impression is that the navy department will assign two capable, efficient officers, two navigators and a sufficient number of engineers, together with seamen, firemen and coal passers, who will go over to Europe and bring the vessels here. Neither vessel will have anything like a full complement of men, however, until it reaches this side of the Atlantic.

Work on the Dolphin, which is lying at the coal dock is being rapidly pushed along, while the workmen on the Chicago and the Atlanta are also very busy. Orders were received today by the officers in charge of the United States machine recruiting station here to enlist 450 men.

WAR IS IMMINENT.

So Says Young Fitzhugh Lee in an Interview.

Tampa, Fla., March 14.—Fitzhugh Lee, Jr., son of General Lee, has arrived here on the steamer City of Havana. Although reticent about stating anything of an official nature, he made the following statement: "I have been in Havana but ten days, having gone there to visit by father on my regular winter vacation. While in Havana I ascertained a number of facts concerning the present strained situation between Spain and the United States. I am of the opinion that war between the two countries is imminent, notwithstanding the fact that diplomacy will be put to its fullest trial to prevent it. The Maine disaster and the attitude of the United States government upon the Helleu navy question will be the chief incentive. While the report of the court of inquiry now at work in Havana investigating the Maine disaster has not been made public, it is probably known to the officials, and their determination as to a mode of procedure has been reached and will be forwarded to Washington this week."

THIS LOOKS SUSPICIOUS.

Women and Children Ordered Away from Sandy Hook.

New York, March 14.—The 200 artillery men ordered from Fort Hamilton and Fort Wadsworth to Sandy Hook were transferred to the latter point today. Under the direction of army engineers, hundreds of soldiers and workmen are busy mounting guns. Notwithstanding the fact that the work of erecting the new fortifications is being pushed, many soldiers are already in place. They are out of sight, in deep pits, in attitudes of sanction which would give it the slightest status to the Spanish government.

Senior Bernabe's attention was called to the reports from Spain as to the prospective sailing of the Spanish fleet for Havana and to the significance which had been attached to this country to this movement. The minister said that the movement of the torpedo craft had been long contemplated, and even before he left Madrid the queen regent had bid good-bye to the captain of the fleet. Their coming had no relation whatever, he declared, to recent conditions, as they were wanted for work along the Cuban coast. Some of them, he said, were designed for use in the Cauto river, while others, being swift, could be used as dispatch boats between shore points in case land communication was interrupted.

The minister has received no information as to the findings of the Spanish naval commission which is investigating the Maine disaster. He says this commission is proceeding with the same formality and secrecy as the United States commission, and that no intimation of its findings will be known until the final report is presented to the Spanish government. Mr. Bernabe added that it is his personal belief, however, that there is no doubt the Spanish commission will report that the explosion was due to accident. He said he was convinced that this also would be the conclusion reached by the people in this country when all the facts in the matter are made known.

DEATH TO TRAITORS.

Seems to Be the Motto of the Cuban Insurgents.

Havana, March 14.—The military commander of Santa Clara reports that the insurgent leaders, Cayato Alvarez Nunez and others, were upon the point of surrendering to the Spaniards, near La Esperanza, province of Santa Clara, they were surprised by the insurgents, under Roberto Bermudez, and a collision occurred. Later, on the farm of Mazon, a force of guerrillas found the naked body of Alvarez Nunez and Maj. Bermudez. The insurgent army, who evidently had been killed by the insurgents, who discovered their intention of surrendering to the Spaniards. The bodies were buried at La Esperanza.

Lord Kitchener of the New York Christian Herald, has given the corresponding a check for $100 in American gold for transmission to the United States Consul at Havana, and another check for the same amount, to be forwarded to United States Consul Harker, at Sagua. La Grande. Both checks will be forwarded to their destinations by messenger. Mr. Kitchener says he would prefer that the money be used for the relief of the "shut out" negroes, otherwise those who are in great poverty, but are too proud to make their wants known.

HOWELL'S ONE SHIP.

Washington, March 14.—Cablegrams received at the navy department today announce that the Hancock sailed yesterday from Lisbon for Norfolk, and the Johnston from Lisbon for Key West, to join the squadron. This leaves Admiral Howell at Lisbon with his flagship San Francisco as the sole representative of the United States navy in European waters.

CUBAN VESSEL MOVEMENTS.

Key West, March 14.—The American yacht Albatross arrived this morning from Havana and the United States coast survey vessel Bache sailed this morning for Havana. The newspaper dispatch boats Dewey, Echo and Confidence arrived here from Havana and shortly afterwards returned to that port.

PROCTOR VISITS ALGER.

Washington, March 14.—Senator Proctor called at the war department today to see Secretary Alger. He was given right-of-way over a number of persons who were waiting for the secretary in the reception room, and for nearly half an hour recited to Secretary Alger the events and observations of his Cuban trip.

SIX MEN INJURED.

Bridge Span on Northwestern Road at Winona Collapses.

Winona, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The six-foot steel span bridge placed at this end of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad drawbridge across the Mississippi river here, fell this noon with six men on it, a distance of twenty-five feet. The span had been moved two feet out to let a train pass and while in this position the timber cribbing supporting it collapsed.

All six men were badly shaken up and bruised, and it is little short of miraculous that none were killed. James L. McDonald, of Chicago, complains of a considerable pain in the left side and may be injured internally. The other men are: Frank Sawyer, H. W. Kelly, Thomas J. Thomas, John D. O'Connell, Harry Pelgate, of Winona.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Franklin Benefit Case Given to the Jury.

In Judge Canby's division of district court this morning the case of Thomas Daly against the Franklin Benefit association was given to the jury at 11 o'clock, and it was still undecided at noon. There was but one jury case left, and as one of the attorneys in that case was engaged in another room it was necessary to let it pass and to take up the court cases. The mortgage foreclosure case of J. A. Watling against C. E. Lovett et al. was taken up and judgment was ordered, there being no appearance on the part of the defendants.

In Judge Meier's court the case of Charles Leytze against Irene Leytze was still on trial, and at noon only the second witness had been examined. The case will probably take some time.

The only jury case left is that of Erik A. Isacson against the Duluth Street Railway company, which will be taken up at the close of the Leytze case.

Was Found Insane.

Daniel Cameron, a teamster, aged 61 years, and residing on Garfield avenue, near the lake, was found insane this morning and was ordered sent to Fergus Falls. Cameron has an idea that he is the danger of poisoning, and that the detectives are plotting against him. He is an Orangeman and his wife is a Catholic, and he thinks that on that account his wife is likely to poison him.
